TATER WAGON STARTS FIRE.

JULY 9, 1914

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) July 3.—The fire department here claims they have extinguished the most unique blass on record. It was started by a water wagen. The food for the flames was a street. Early this morning a motor-driven street sprinkler spilled a tank of gasoline. It trickled over the sides of a lantern on the rear which fired the gasoline, fellowed a trail where the fuel had spilled on Atlantic avenue, and ignited the bitulithic pavements. The flames spread until that square of the street was blazing and en were half an hour

"We instinctively also believe in industrial liberty. No man should be great enough or powerful enough to be above the law; and no man should be poor enough or despised enough to be beneath the protection of the law. We must inscribe upon the hearts of youth reverence for the Constitution and the law.

"We must put our foot on anarchy wherever it puts up its hideous head—we must stand for law and order.

"In national affairs he should stand first for America. There may be those who are so broad in their brother-hood as to forget their own country, but for me—my country, if it be right and though it be wrong. Destiny has decreed that wherever patriotism has raised the flag there it must stay. This country is destined to extend its borders and the freedom it guarantees, and there is no country over which it has ever been raised that has not been bettered morally, politically and commercially."

HITCHCOCK'S STATEMENT.

Soon after the President's statement was circulated in the Senate, a statement was given out by Senator Hitchcock defending the action of the committee in summoning only two of the nominees for the reserve board to appear to be questioned on the ground that satisfactory information had been gained from the other men nominated as members of the board.

A report that Mr. Warburg had been invited to come to the White House before reaching a final decision was denied by officials, who said that the President and Mr. Warburg have been in close touch with each other by means of the telephone and that a personal call was unnecessary.

Senator Hitchcock also issued a statement as follows:

"Some criticism has been made because the committee did not invite others nominated for membership in the board by the President to come before it. This, however, is not true. It invited Mr. Jones. He responded promptly and answered all questions fully and frankly. It secured a written statement from Mr. Harding, which was deemed ample and atisfactory. FOR OPEN SHOP. Stockton Employers Take

FIRM DEMAND

a Step to Freedom. Mill Men Told Union Label

Would Be Abolished.

A Few Walk Out and Some Trouble Is Expected.

[ST DERECT WIRE—SECURIVE DUPATER.]
STOCKTON, July 8.—The first step what may result in a general walkut of union men and women em-cants, Manuracturers' and Employers' Association.

Several weeks ago certain employers began a movement for the open shop. The unions then began to boycott open-shop firms. The employers, who were fully organized under the banner of the Merchants', Manufacturers' and Employers' Association, then threatened a general lockout of all union worksrs in the event picketing was continued. The Stockton Labor Council refused to lift the boycott, with the result that general open-shop conditions, affecting all trades and industries, became effecmanimously on the proposition.

The first fruits of the action became manifest in the planing mills this morning, when the proprietors of the four mills called their men together and informed them that henceforth the mills would be conducted on the open-shop plan; that men would be ensaged without reference to union affiliations; that the union label would be abolished and that shop stewards would not be permitted in the mills.

The men were told that the same hours and wages would be maintained and that all men who cared to remain could do so, but that those who did not care to do so could call at the offices and get their pay. The men remained true to their union principles by quitting their jobs and calling for their money.

About 200 mill men went out. No disturbances of any kind occurred today. All other industries are running with their regular crews. The ame clerks are on duty in the stores, the building contractors made no statements to their men this morning and activities are going forward as usual.

It is expected that a walk-out will be forced, however, just as soon as an attempt is made to deliver unstamped number on the jobs. The supply of stamped material now on hand will quickly be exhausted, and it is anticipated that the fight will spread to all industries.

A DVISES VILLA TO BE CAREFUL.

While Mediators Are Laboring to Bring About Understanding Ex-forts Are Being Made to Prevent Successful General from Being First to Enter Mexico City.

EL PASO (Tex.) July 8.—The Carthe negotiations designed to avoid the threatened split among Constitution-Roberto Pesqueira, Carranza's con-night to Gen. Villa, in which he said: Carranza have become convinced and acquainted with the impostors, and that both of you manfully and patriotically will call for their resignations and have them sever their active connections with the Constitutionalist cause, thus terminating all political dissensions which came so near causing the serious misuaderstanding, which would have been so detrimental to the speedy success of our noble cause."

This was explained by the statement that strong pressure had been brought to bear by the United States and certain European governments that Villa must not be the first to reach Mexico City. Gen. Obregon's forces are pressing against Guadalajara, having had a successful encounter with the Federals this week, according to official reports received here.

If the city is taken Obregon's troops, it is said, would not be in a strong enough condition to attack Mexico City unassisted, but they would be present to enter the national capital in case the Huerta government collapsed. This would prevent Villa from entering Mexico City first, and possibly forming an alliance with the Zapata guerrilla troops of Southern Mexico.

Gaorge St. Clair Douglas, the Brit-and possibly forming an analysis and possibly forming assisted the federals in their defense of the city, has been ordered expelled from Mexico. Advices to this effect were received here today. Manuel Carlos de la Vega, revolutionary Governor of Zacatecas State, ordered his expulsion. Douglas is expected to arrive here in a few days. Mail. Emil Holmdahl, the Oakland (Cal.) soldier of fortune, sent to Sonora recently by Gen. Villa to recruit a force of men to drive the Federals from Lower California, has been released from prison in Hermosillo. This was reported officially here today from Hermosillo. Holmdahl was arrested by Constitutionalist authorities in Sonora and accused of being in a spy in the employ of the American government.

Villa secretaries issued the following statement:

"The conferences between the various delegations of the divisions of north and northeast ended today with a result entirely satisfactory to the Constitutionalist movement and to the nation. Opportunely the public will be informed of the points transacted at the conference."

The delegates met again this morning for the purpose of preparing a report on their transactions. Yesterday also was devoted to this task. Whether objections to some of the findings have been voiced by Gen. Carranza or Gen, Villa was not made known.

It was understood that one of the results of the conference would be that the three Constitutionalist divisions soon would move on Mexico

This was the news brough here tonight by John Bowman United States Consul at Nogales

United States Consul at Nogales, Sonora.

The Cananea Consolidated Copper Company's employees struck last week for higher pay, recognition of the miners' union and other concessions, but the company refused to grant their demands.

While Col. Calles was in Cananea with 800 troops, Jose Maytorens, Civil Governor of the State, attempted to send a commission there to investigate, but the commission got no farther than Nogales, as Calles notified he investigators he would imprison them if they came to Cananea.

At present the mines and all stores are closed. It is reported that starvation will bring on more trouble shortly unless the strike is settled.

Danger From Stray Electric Cur May Cause Sudden Death.

May Cause Sudden Death.

[Literary Digest:] A man is in much greater danger from electric shock when taking a bath than under ordinary conditions, as the surface of the body when moist offers much less resistance to the current than when dry. Persons have been killed while bathing by current that would scarcely have affected them outside the bath. Says Cosmos (Paris, October 30:)

Outside the bath. Says Cosmos (Paris, October 30:)

"Balthasard has recently told at the Society of Legal Medicine of the case of a lady killed by electric shock in her bath-room at the moment she was pressing the button of an electric bell between the poles of which there was a difference of potential of not more than 110 volts. "In ordinary circumstances, owing to the great resistance of the human body, such a small electromotive force presents no great danger; but when the circuit contains, as in the case reported, a large surface of moist skin the resistance falls and more than 100 milliamperes may pass through the organism, sufficient at this tension to produce death by tetanization of the respiratory muscles.

at this tension to produce death by tetanization of the respiratory musticles.

"Currents of even 46 volts are dangerous in a bathroom. It should be remembered that currents of feeble intensity can produce a sudden rise of arterial tension capable of causing sudden death in a person with a weak heart.

"High tensions, enabling currents of 4 to 5 amperes to pass, have quite a different effect. They do not generally cause death, because the modifications of the tissue produced at the point of contact at once oppose a considerable resistance to the passage of the current. The intensity within the organism is not sufficient to cause tetanization of the respiratory muscles, and the lesions are usually purely local.

"Secquet has also observed a case of electrocution with an electromotive force much lower than 110 volts. There was no burn at the point where the current entered, but at the autopsy the lungs showed the characteristic lesions of asphyxia and even actual laceration."

white sand or finely ground rock, and that pulverized sugar is commonly adulterated with starch or lime dust. Cases of such adulteration, however, have rarely been found by the Bureau of Chemistry, though starch has been detected in a very few samples of powdered sugar.

The writer of the bulletin says:
"Within certain limits, sugar may be considered as the equivalent of starch that has been digested and made ready for absorption. A mealy boiled potato, like all forms of starchy food, must be largely converted into some kind of sugar by the digestive juices before it can be absorbed as good.

the mouth it is at once acted upon more or less by a ferment contained in the saliva, and this action is continued by a ferment contained in the intestines. It is broken up into simpler chemical compounds, and it finally reaches the blood and muscles as dextrose, a ferm of sugar which can be burned in the body to yield muscular energy and heat. When an excess of carbohydrates (sugar or starch) is consumed, the dextrose in the digestive tract is converted in the liver to glycogen and stored until required, being then, it is believed, reconverted into dextrose. More complex changes may take place which convert carbohydrates consummed in excess into fat, which is also stored as a reserve material.

"When sugar is eaten it is changed in the digestive tract before it is taken up in the blood and carried where it is needed. If a solution of cane sugar be injected directly into the blood, it is passed out by the kidneys unchanged, showing that it is not fitted for assimilation until it has been changed, as it is in normal digestion. The change needed is slight compared with that required for the digestion of starch, sugar "inverted" or changed into the simpler sugars as aiready described, and this change is brought about in the digestive tract by the agency of enzyms or ferments regarding the nature of which little is known. When thus changed into the simpler sugars, its function in the body is similar to that of starch after it has reached the analogous stage in digestion. "At the Minnesots experiment sta-

"At the Minnesota experiment station the thoroughness of digestion of sugar was studied with healthy men, of sugar in a studied as a part of a simple mixed diet. The sugar showed a high digestibility, 98.9 per cent of its total energy being in seneral it increased the available of the body on the average. In general it increased the available or cent, and did not affect the digestibility of the foods with which it was combined. The protein of the ration are commonly, the nitrogen retention being increased 25 per cent. It was pointed out in discussing these experiments that 'the value of sugar in a ration depends upon its judicious use and combination with other foods."

"Food must supply enough protein or nitrogenous material for the formation and repair of tissues, and for entain other uses in the body, and in addition sufficient other material to make up the amount of energy necessary for heat and muscular work. The nitrogen-free nutrients are fats and carbohydrates. In the ordinary diet to make up the amount of fat and carbohydrates is forenous. tarch, is believed to be the production of energy for internal and axieraal muscular work, and, as a necessary accompaniment, hody neat. This has been amply demonstrated by experiment. By ingenious devices the blood going to and from a muscle of a living animal may be analyzed, and it is thus shown that more blood traverses an active or working muscle and more sugar disappears from it than is the case of a muscle at rest.

"To decide the question of the value of sugar as a source of energy for the working muscle, much careful inboratory work has been carried on. It has been found that an increase in the sugar content of the dist, when not too great and when the sugar is not too great and when the sugar is not too concentrated, lessens or delays fatigue and increases working power. Increased amounts of sugar were found to increase the ability to perform muscular work to such an extent that on a ration of 500 grams (17.5 ounces) of sugar alone a man was able to do 61 to 76 per cent, more work than on a fasting diet. The addition of about half this quantity of sugar to an ordinary or to a meager the

Denmark that year consumed 7.7.7 pounds per capita, Switserland 64.2, and Germany, France, and Holland each about 40 pounds, while in Italy, Greece and Servia the rate was only about 7 pounds per capita. The consumption of sugar is everywhere increasing.

Sugar belongs to the impertant group of food constituents, carbohydrates, so named because as a whole they contain the element carbon in chemical combination with oxygen and hydrogen, these two elements being in the same proportion as in water. Other carbo-bydrates closely related to sugar are starch and crude fibre, or celluloge. Sugars and starches are important foodstuffs, since with fat they supply the bulk of the energy of diet.

Saccharin, an extremely sweet material, is not a sugar, but is of an entirely different chemical structure, being a bensine compound. Its use in food products was forbidden under the Federal pure food law. It is quite commonly prescribed in cases of diabetes to satisfy the craving of awests, as it is believed to be less harmful in such cases than the sugar, the flavor of which it replaces. There are other chemical substances which are not sugars, but which have a marked awest flavor. They, like saccharin, it is axplained, are in no sense foodstuffs.

KAROLYI MAKES PLEA. Leader of Hungarian Ind Leader of Hungarian Independents Asks Assistance for Campaign in His Country.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] PHILADELPHIA, July 8.—Count Michael Karolyl, leader of the independent wing of the Hungarian Parliament, tonight in an address before several thousand of his fellow-countrymen of this city, pleaded for moral and financial support in a campaign for a greater democracy for Hungarians. He predicted that unless conditions were radically changed that when the death of Emperor Francis Joseph occurred there would be a revolution in Hungary. The Count, who is accompanied by several of his adherents in Parliament, is making a six-weeks' tour of the United States and intends to visit all of the larger cities.

The police have an idea that the man who assisted in putting out the first fire was interested in the matter and had replaced the lantern. Mrs. Eckles gave a good description of the man, who was apparently about 35 years of age, wore a light suit of clothes and a dark hat. No clew to the firebug has been discovered.

engaged in white slavery on a large scale.

The prisoners were taken to the Central Station, where Burke said that he is an electrician and lives at No. 1300 West Eighth street. He denied having any connection with the alleged offense against womanhood.

He was locked up on charges of suspected felony and Mrs. Burke was held on suspicion of pandering.

According to the evidence uncarthed by the officers, a young girativing her name as Mary Readman of No. 7533 Hobart street was first approached by Burke and his wife while the girl was working in a department store.

The complaining witness alleges that Mrs. Burke painted rosy pictures of life on the great white way and told ber that such a pretty girl should not be compelled to work for a living.

Policewoman Lorel Boyles was then called in and accompanied Miss Readman to the home of the Burkes, where

FATAL TO THE FRUIT.

FATAL TO THE FRUIT.

The sun-proof, moisture-proof coating of cement on the orange trees reduced the crop of golden fruit by one-half in the first season after the dust shower began. The blight subsequently reduced the orange crop to one-fourth of its former value.

In the summer of 1909 the orange growers who were neighbor to the dust-bellowing monsters obtained injunctions against the cement company and the plant was closed down, pending the work of installing dust-controlling equipment which cost $300.000.

The California Portland Cement Company at Colton now can spout dust over the surrounding orange trees without danger of damage suits, for the reason that the corporation has bought all of the land within the danger zone.

Three appraisers, appointed by the Superior Court, made their final report yesterday, fixing the amount of damages and the purchase price for land which will be paid to sixteen or land and damages amounting to $24,381, or a total of $116,831.

one-fourth of its former value.

In the summer of 1999 the orange growers who were neighbor to the dust-bellowing monsters obtained injunctions against the cement company and the plant was closed down, pending the work of installing dust-controlling equipment which cost $300.000.

The first day that the dust-controlling plant was in operation it saved sixty tons of powdered cement, which otherwise would have been scattered broadcast over the country to the dismay of the inhabitants. The device forces the flue gases through a long passageway and a shower bath which has the effect of settling the dust.

The dust-controlling device does not prevent the escape of all dust, but reduced the blighted zone to a radius of three-quarters of a mile. It is the land in this district which has been purchased by the corporation.

The new law will of course apply lands that have been excepted, making it possible for hor steaders to secure it for agricultu-or surface purposes, the governm reserving all mineral rights under patent.

It is believed that the new law which will become operative when signed by President Wilson, will result in a rush of entrymen, for it is known that in certain sections the excepted land is well located and very valuable from a farming point of view.

The law, of course, will have nothing to do with land except that now withdrawn from public entry because experts have declared that it possibly contains oil or some other equalty valuable mineral.

The meetings at San Bernardino, at Riverside and elsowhere were enthusiastic and packed. The people were eager to hear the things he had to tell them. Capt. Fredthe things he had to tell them. Capt. Predericks came in the wake of Hiram Johnson's tour—the second since Johnson nominated himself on the Progressive ticket in violation of the primary—and drew larger crowds, created more enthusiasm and won more applause than the Governor, who has become such an adept at "creating popular seatment," even if he has to hire claquers to do it.

In his speech at Riverside Capt. Fredericks showed that the Johnson administration had built up a publicity machine so constructed as to keep a large percentage of the people in the State from ever learning the truth if the machine did not want them to learn it. It was shown that Johnson has carefully selected newspaper owners and editors for places on his commissions, and in return he exacts that they shall consistently support him in their news columns.

The first two speeches let Johnson know that he is up spainst a fighter—a Republican candidate who has the facts regarding the Progressive administration at his tongue's end and is not afraid to talk. At last Johnson is backed up into the corner—put on the defensive—compelled to explain, and all because Capt. Fredericks has watched and observed the chicanery and trickery of the Progressives' administration from the time it went into office down to the present, and when he speaks he knows of what he is talking!

The Progressive press from Shasta to Riverside may shriek—as it probably will shriek—"Lies," which, for the matter of that, is practically all the answer to truthful charges ever made by California.

From the start—even from the day it was announced that he would be a candidate for the nomination—Capt. Predericks has met with enthusiastic support. His record is known, and his courage, too. Of record is known, and his courage, too. Of his ability there is no question. Those are the things that count now in selecting candidates. The day when a candidate's success largely depended on his ability to pose as an evangelist or a pious reformer, is passed in California. Johnson quickly brought such practices into disrepute and has rendered the very word of "reform" odlous since he has made it stand for hypocrisy, incompetency and a form of graft no less victous because he took the precautions of using putty legislators to legalize it. Capt. Fredericks is promising nothing but a straightaway business administration. He promises that the Capitol Build-

He has alresdy made a sensation and he has just begun to fight. People want to hear him because he tells them something. He tells them how their State has been run for the past four years, and doesn't quote platitudes. He strikes from the shoulder—speaks so plainly that even the Progressive politician has no difficulty in understanding what is meant—and he stands ready to back up everything that he says. Which is a great deal more than may be said to the credit of most candidates, whether for constable or for Governor.

BY AIR TO EUROPE.

D No one car read without a thrill of exhilaration, and no American without a glow of patrictic pride, of the trial trips of the flying boat which Rodman Wana-maker is to send across the Atlantic. This transatiantic flier has been built at the Curtiss factory at Hammondsport, N. J., and has been christened America, a name as oo young a wife to understand. Wait until famous in sport as among nations. It is hey have been married longer and perher have been married longer and perher have the national name which already has figured gloriously in the A NINETY-THREE-MILLION-DOLLAR game can still remember the great flight of the balloon America which twice won in-ternational races. They also have a dis-tinct recollection of the extraordinary feat of another balloon called America which, in a race against the ten best European balloons, sailed the air for 1172 miles.

The people of Southern California, and particularly of Los Angeles and San Diego, will watch the flight of the aerial boat with more than ordinary interest, if only be cause Curties is the builder. He was among on the Domingues field and we all remem-ber his safe and sane flights there at the time when Paulhan performed. Amazing has been the advance in the science of aeronautics since then. Paulhan's feats, daring as they were thought to be, were nothing compared to the sympastics which have been performed in the air above and round Los Angeles since then.

The flying men certainly have made history this year. The trial trips of the Amer ica itself have commanded the world's admiration. The voyage into unknown heights of a Russian with eight passengers has gripped the imagination, and the regular journeys made daily over Pasadena all last spring by the Knabenshue dirigible have opened the eyes of the people to some of the possibilities of aviation.

Not the least among the 1914 features of aviation was the successful test of Prof. Langley's flying machine by Glen Curtisa on Lake Keuka. As said by Charles M. Manley, who was Langley's assistant in aeronautical work from 1898 to 1904, that flight was the splendid fulfillment of the astounding prophecy of a misunderstood and abused genius. The late secretary of the Smithsonian Institution was the first man to demonstrate the practicability of mechanical flight.

Because Langley failed to make a spec tacular success in actual flight the Demo-erats, with their usual capacity for doing the wrong thing, attacked the Republican administration and charged that national persons who would rather feast funds were used to promote an impossible of traffic on a river had counted the same use of the dead than fast with the project. Mr. Manley made a short flight in cargoes two or more times as they passed the Langley machine in October, 1963. in and out of ports to swell the total and guage.

make a sustained flight. The man who blazed the way for the heavier-than-air machines of today was thus vindicated eight years after he was borne to the grave. Wilbur and Orville Wright, pioneers in what Langley called "the great universal highway overhead," freely acknowledged that the fact that the head of the most recomberd scientific institution in America. prominent scientific institution in America believed in the possibility of human flight was one of the influences which led them to undertake the preliminary investigations that preceded their active work. He lent them a helping hand at a critical time. Wilbur Wright has followed Langley to the grave, but Orville Wright still continues his notable work in the field of aviation.

Man's conquest of the air is still attended with fatilities. Only a short time ago a mimic aerial battle near Vienna was turned into a tragedy when an aeropiane crashed into at airship 1300 feet in the air and nine men were killed. But the percentage of accidents to the activity displayed in aviation is not considered to be out of the way. Members of the Aero Club of Amernot to mention 5000 who are flying without licenses and 5000 more men who are doing more or less flying in connection with their courses at aviation schools. With such a large number engaged in aerial voyages accidents are bound to happen.

ors. Soon Lieut. Porte, the Englishman, will attempt his transatlantic flight in the Wanamaker seaplane. He is so confident of success that he already is expressing his the Mauretania anxiety to fly around the world.

PORK BARREL

The Rivers and Harbors Appropriation Bill or, as it is slangily designated, the "pork barrel" grows in size every year. This year the appropriations for river and harbor improvement already aggregate $93,529,475, with a number of Congressional districts yet to be heard from. Congress-man James A. Frear of Wisconsin, who lives in a district where there are no navi-gable waters, is fighting the extravagant appropriations in the river and harbor bill, His crusade, says an eastern exchange "is not against improvement of rivers and harbors by the government. It is against waste in this improvement by spe millions upon millions every year in im provements that have no commercial value; it is against the practice of 'log rolling' by which one member agrees to support othe items in the bill in return for promise support of items appropriating money to be spent in his home district. It has come to be regarded as a Congressman's right to have a certain amount of this money spent in his district so he may tell his con stituents what he has been able to do for them with the government's money."

"The present bill is the worst ever sub-mitted," said Mr. Frear in the House, "and it ought to be defeated. But the defeat of this bill is not important compared with defeat of the system which has grown up for plundering the Federal treasury."

The original purpose of appropriating money to improve rivers and harbors was to develop waterways that would compe with railways and so lessen the cost of transportation, but in practice the raflways and the dredging companies have been the chief beneficiaries of the appropriations. The railroads own or control most of the water frontage on the harbors, and they own a majority of the river steamers.

Mr. Frear went after the appropriation with a sharp stick in detail as well as in gross. One river for which a large sum was appropriated was shown to be dry except for three months in the year. In another instance he showed that estimators

After traveling several hundred yards the machine plunged into the river while going at the rate of fifty miles an hour. Another flight, made in December, 1903, also ended in the river. The Democrats attacked Langley on the floor of Congress and upjust criticism broke the heart of the man of genius.

Last month Curtiss reassembled the Langley machine and proved that it could make a sustained flight. The man who blazed the way for the heavier-than-air mafreight must be carried by rail eventually freight must be carried by rail eventually must make up the difference. Mr. Frear went so far as to say that water transportation in the United States cannot compete with modern rail transportation except on long routes such as the Great Lakes, or for low-grade cargoes such as coal and from ore. Wheat, lumber and package freight he includes in high-grade classification. He he includes in high-grade classification. He said that the government's money is being wasted on river projects that never will net the public any return. He cited the Mississippi River appropriations where he propriations fairly and honestly. A Congressman from North Carolina, for instance, will not vote for a necessary and wise ap-propriation, such as one for improving the harbor at San Pedro, unless the Congressi-man from California will vote for dredging and deepening some creek in North Carolina up which no vessel other than a fishing or oyster schooner ever sailed or ever would sail if it were deep enough to float effect a reform by voting a lump sum for river and harbor improvements to be apof the Interior upon projects first approved by the local engineer, the district engineer, the chief of army engineers and the Rivers and Harbors Board. But this would be apt to transfer the annual pork-barrel struggle from the Congressional appropriation bill to the engineers, and then other factors would enter into the contest.

> THE ONE THEME. WALT MASON IN THE TIMES.

You talk of Pope and Byron, of Milton Keats and Scott, and I admit I'm tirin' of all that kind of rot; you say the world is richer since Shakespeare sung his lays; to Jones, our southpaw pitcher, you give no word of praise. Through inning after in-ning he pitched a hitless game, and yet you come here grinning to talk of Wordsworth's fame. You speak of Alexander, and say he was a brick, that storied old commwho sighed for worlds to lick; I fear there's nothing in it, this clawing o'er his bones, and at the present minute my thoughts are all of Jones. Your musty ancient heroes were doubtless wearing bells, your Hannibals and Neroes, your dauntless William Tells, but they are dead and planted, long since they met their fate, and I am now enchanted with Jones, whose curves are great. Of statesmen and of thinkers you come to spiel a while, and they are surely clinkers when tommyrot's in style, but statesmanship is musty, and thinkers are a bore, when Jones, the true and trusty, is making batsmen sore. Forget the printed pages, the wreaths and halls of fame, forget the bards and sages, and come and see the game! who sighed for worlds to lick; I fear there's

ONE QUALIFICATION. (London Daily Sketch: The daughter of a very prominent Liberal statesman is telling this story against herself. Joseph Chamberlain realized what was Joseph Chamberlain realized what was happening, but was impotent to save. But the Liberal government believes in free trade. So they have raised the income tax to a war footing, raised the land taxes, the death duties, penalized the land taxes, the death duties, penalized the land taxes, the death duties, penalized the few poor wretches who have managed to achieve a mild form of affluence under incredible conditions, and distributed vast sops of charity to the unemployed. You can buy a loaf for 5½ cents in England and, if you can't earn any money to buy it with, the government will add another 10 per cent. to the taxes and dole you out that much.

That's the way they make British backbons, British bull-dog pluck and all those things that we have heard so much about.

He believed fervently in the greates and the future of the United States and the necessity that Great Britain should be the best possible terms of friendship withis country. He was never thred of practices and the state of the state the best possible terms of friendship with this country. He was never thred of praising the commercial capacity and the foresightedness of America, and in the historic "Big and Little Loaf" election, which proved the Waterloo of the Conservative party in 1905, England was flooded with statistics and eulogies in connection with the big business successes and the consequent prosperity of this country.

On that occasion the Liberals had two loaves baked to play star roles in their campaign. The one a meager, puny thing called the Little Tariff. Loaf and the other a big, generous affair, the Free Trade Loaf. It worked like a miracle, for the dull British voter could never be made to realize the absurdity of losing your job for the sake of buying cheap. "Your bread will cost, you more" was the parrot cry, that initialled the present Liberal government in power in England, just as the cry of "Your food will cost you leas" was responsible for placing the Democrats in power in this country.

In yain did Joseph Chamberlain remind "Your food will cost you less" was responsible for placing the Democrats in power in this country.

In vain did Joseph Chamberiain remind them that it was better to pay 10 cents for a loaf and earn 25 to buy it with than to get your loaf for 516 cents, but be unable to earn the wherewithin for the humble purchase.

Yet that is exactly what has happened in England. The army of unemployed, the poverty of England, is one of the diagraces of civilization. Every night between two and three thousand people sleep in the streets of London alone, homeless, starving. Twenty thousand more find shelter in semi-charity doss houses at a few cents. Thousands more are supported by the Salvation Army and the charitable associations, many thousands more fill the workhouses—paupers, paupers everywhere—but a loaf can be had in England for 516 cents that would cost 10 cents here, a glorious privilege forsooth!

Joseph Chamberlain was member of Parliament from Birmingham, the large city associated with the manufacture of hardware of every conceivable description. For thirty years Hirmingham was passionately by all to "Dear Old Joe" and long after he was an effective representative on account of grievous sickness he was returned regularly unopposed. For Birmingham of all cities had felt the pinch and cruelty of foreign competition under free trade. Germany and the United States flooded the English markets, with their hardware, so that a short period of sharp rate-cutting by either an American or German factory, who could well afford to make the flittle sacrifice, the sprat to catch a mackerel, supported as it was by a protected home market, easily sent the Birmingham house into bankrupt-cy. Then the foreigner gradually raised his price, having secured the desired monopoly of the market—and a few thousand hardware workers were left jobless, with the still glorious privilege of buying a cheap loaf.

Chamberlain was one of the n turesque and interesting figures in English political life. Slender, wiry, keen, immacu-lately dressed, his famous monocle and or-chid made him a popular figure with the caricaturists. His orchid houses were his one hobby, his one weaknass. He had every conceivable variety of orchid in his Highbury conservatories and never appeared in the House of Commons without one of these expensive flowers in his buttombole. F. Scott, who is charged with attempted arson. If the author can be traced it may change the whole nature of the case. It is in the hands of the police.

The letter was found by a Mrs. Reid of Central avenue, on her front porch soon after she had contracted to rent a house to Mrs. Hartigan, and was written as a warning to her.

Mrs. Scott is still suffering from the effects of the strain brought on by her husband's arrest. She is loyal to him and says there is nothing under the sun that she wouldn't do to help him in his trouble. She said in regard to the fire:

"Mr. Scott and I went to Redondo Beach Friday night intending to stay that night and spend the Fourth on the beach. While we were away some one set the house on fire and that's all we know about it. We wouldn't have gotten a cent of insurance so what good would it have done us? The price we were to pay for the place was $13350, and we had been paying installments for three years. The furniture, I believe, was insured for $500. My husband and I have been awakened every night since he has been out on bond by some one prowiling around the house."

All morning an insurance adjuster was here to investigate the cause of the fire. After going to the house here turned to the Police Station, where he was closeted for some time with the Chief.

Getters" the Galety organisation has railied the greatest stars to be found in musical comedy on the West Coast. [American Journal of Psychology:]
The highest rank among the senses is usually awarded to sight. This is doubtless correct, psychologically, but from the standpoint of physiology, another sense deserves the crown. drama extending over two hours in the presentation.

In big scenes of this drama the music of the Auditorium pipe organ plays an impressive part. It is under the guidance of Ray Hastings, well-known Los Angeles organist, who gives a magnificent musical portrayal of the conflicting emotions of the action of the film. Here will be enloyed a mingling of two great arts—that of portraying through actions the thoughts of men and women, and that of telling the vivid story through the strains of music.

Due to popular demand "The Christian" will remain at the Auditorium, Clune's Theater Beautiful, for one more week.

FATTER GROWS ANGEL LEAD.

Take Another Fall Out of Sacramento.

Perritt and Stroud Are Not at Their Best.

Cook, Former Oak, Is a Star With the Bat.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Leading the league is now all the rage with our justly-celebrated athletes.

For two days now it has been a fixed habit with them. Yesterday they were to be found working at their well-known trade of beating Sacramento, doing so this time by the comparativety moderate score of 8 to 3.

Consequently, with the Oaks thumping Hap Hogan and San Francisco mashing Portland, the Angels find themselves more out by themselves than they have been for some time. A whole game and a haif now separates them from the Tigers, and Hen Herry deems that some separation. Also, they have removed themselves three and a haif sames away from Portland, or somewhat south of the Oregon line.

POLL AND SAILOR.

"Poll." AND SAILOR.
"Poll" Perritt and "Sailor" Stroud undertook to pitch, and kept on trying until the latter part of the game, when Dillon and Wolverton suddenly became imbued with the same ideathat of resorting to pinch-hitters.
Neither pitcher was wholly "right." Stroud had a hangnail on his pitching hand, while there was a grinding sound in Perritt's elbow which should not have been there.

In the seven innings which he toiled Stroud allowed only one earned run. But his case was damaged beyond repair as early as the third, when his struggling help heaved the ball around with no definite purpose POLL AND SAILOR,

$25,000 PURSE OFFERED FOR WELSH-WHITE BOUT

(BY DIRECT WIRE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

ENVER, July 8.—The State Athletic Club will give a $25,000 purse for a twenty-round bout for the lightweight championship between the winner of the White-Yoakum bout and Freddie Welsh, English and technically champion of the world.

The offer was made today by Promoter Cal Cheairs and is based upon the assumption that Welsh will be also winner. Louis Newman, manager for Stanley Yoakum, also agreed to accept the offer.

But it is not to be supposed that he will be any more anxious to risk the championship now that he really has it, than he was to risk taking a chance of putting an obstacle in the way of getting it.

BURST OF CANDOR.

In an unusual burst of candor. Freddie told me one day before his Rivers fight that he lost the championship of Great Britain and the scale Belt because he tried to knock out Matt Wells.

"Titles are lost," he said, "because every champion feels that it is to him to knock every one of his opponents dead. The hope of the boxing world is that some one will rise up and take the ampionship away from Weish.

In the opinion of most sporting experts, the following boys have a chance.

Packey McParland, Jack Britton, Jimmy Duffy and Ad Wolgast. The feeling seems to be that Ad is the best prospect of the let.

Packey McParland can't make the weight or come within a mile of it. There is so much feeling between Britton and Welsh that Freddie will be in no hurry to accommodate him.

Duffy is temporarily out of the game owing to an injured hand. He is, however, firing telegrams into all the newspaper offices, snorting his defiance and recalling his defeat of Welsh while Preddle was on the way to California.

to fight Joe Rivers.

Charley White and Johnny Dundee and even Johnny Kilbane are yelping out dares to Welsh. Dundee claims that he defeated Welsh in New Orienna. Kilbane would undoubtedly make a brilliant fight against Welsh, but a comparison of his fight against Attell with Freddie's fight with Attell, demonstrates the superiority of Welsh.

WOLGAST'S CHANCES.

WOLGAST'S CHANCES.

In fact, there seems to be no lightweight in the world who has the slightest chance against Welsh's peculiar tap-and-clinch game.

Tom McCarey and other judges have expressed the belief that little Ad Welgast would have the best chance of them all.

Ad discusses his own chances very candidly—but rather sadly.

"Two years ago," he said, "if we had fought that Thanksgiving Day when I was operated on for appendicitis, I would have knocked Welsh out inside of twelve rounds. I think I could beat him now, but I am not crazy to go after the championship. I wanted to beat Willie Ritchie for a reason that was mainly personal. He did me a dirty trick once and I wanted to take his championship away from him. With Welsh, it is different.

"I have plenty of money and fighting is hard work.

"I know how to handle him all right. He can't hold me in a clinch like he did Cross and Rivers. I have never yet seen the fellow who was able to clinch me. Welsh won't be able to figure me. My blows come so unexpectedly. I sneak them over. He won't know where they are coming from.

"I really don't believe that Welsh would be such a very game guy, either, if you went after him strong enough. It was pretty soft for him to have Joe Rivers and Leach Cross stand up in front of him like a couple of boobs and have their faces punched. I wouldn't swear how the fight would come out, but I would make Welsh step some."

BILLIARD TITLES FINALLY SETTLED.

SEYMOUR WINS SECOND PLACE BAYNE THIRD—PROTESTS WITHDRAWN.

Competition in the three-cushies billiard tournament for the championship of Los Angeles ended last night, when Arthur Seymour won from Jack Bayne the extra game required by their tie for second and third places, and James Morley withdrew his protest registered in the game with Byron Gillette, after Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, donors of the trophy, had decided that E. B. Morse's claim for a replay with Seymour was invalid.

These several points having been disposed of, Gillette was left undisputed winner of the tournament and possessor of the trophy, which is subject to challenge from any bonn fideresident of the city within a period of eighteen months.

Seymour immediately challenged Gillette to a match, filing his notice with the donors, as required under the tourney conditions. This challenge takes effect within five dayafter which Gillette must set a date of play within twenty-one days, or forfeit both title and trophy to the challenger.

From the spirit displayed by the veteran in the tournament, there seems no probability of any default, but, on the contrary, a certainty of a most interesting and classy match of at least three nights' duration.

Seymour's game against Bayne last evening was won in eighty-three innings, on scores of fifty points to thirty-nine. Bayne made high run of five, and acquitted himself well at various stages of the hard game put up against him by Seymour.

ONDON, July 8.—A great many well-informed Englishmen are criticising the decision of the referee in the Weish-Ritchie contest at Olympth last evening. There is a feeling among all the Americans in London that the decision should have been a draw instead of an award of the championship to Weish on points. It is regrettable that the bout could not have been to a finish. If it had lasted ten rounds longer Ritchie would have won, as the last five rounds showed Weish hanging on and weakening perceptibly each round. tee J. M. Popham, a railroad mining engineer.

A protest against the Nicaraguan treaty was contained in a message from President Melendes of Salvador made public today by Senator Smith of Michigan, whe will lay it before the Foreign Belations Committee.

"We are informed that the energetic protest that my government has set forth to the Department of State through the Legation in Washington, maintaining that the proposed Nicaraguan treaty wrongs the rights and interests of Salvador in the Bay of Fonseca has not been brought to the knowledge of the Senate," it said. "In that sense we sak the committee to require from the Department of State the diplomatic correspondence regarding said protest and to take it into consideration before deciding on the matter. Besides, we inform the honorable committee that our diplomatic agent has been instructed to extend our protest to the point that the impairment of the autonomy of Nicaragua equally affects that of Salvador and nullifies the Washington conventions.

Work of the steam shovel on the roads in Griffith Park has been resumed. In connection with the plans for road construction, the Park Commission has instructed the superintendent of parks to plan a new route for a road along the river, as the present route is to be utilized for a larger main by the water department. The superintendent was also instructed to repair the roads washed out during the floods last spring and to replace bridges that were destroyed.

The defendants claim the property by virtue of a lease by the former city of San Pedro, in 1996, which they assert was validated by the act of the Legislature of March 23, 1997.

It was a hard, interesting fight, with many fine points involved. Several of the questions embraced difficult, technical points. The defendants relied not only on the validity of the lease but also contended that the city is estopped from taking title at the present time by reason of it having persons filed.

MOOSE OUTLAW ESCAPES. NO CROSS-EXAMINATION.

N. Banks Cregier, deposed Dictator of Moose lodge No. 386, and present Dictator of the outlaws, primed himself for a gruelling cross-examination at the hands of the regulars' attorneys in Judge Wellborn's court yesterday. As the star witness for the outlaws, he was loaded for bear. But not one question was he asked when his direct examination was finished.
Mr. Cregier chuckled as he left the stand. He had said a few things which in several instances the court ruled out, but the burning question why he lodge was broken up remains still.unanswered, Mr Cregier says. The main question is, who owns the furniture of the outlaws. Both sides claim ft. Dictator of the outlaws, primed him-
